

Step Up

THE IDEA

It's been said, "To understand a man, you've got to walk a mile in his shoes, whether they fit or not." It's hard for most of us to imagine coping with a disability in a developing country with little or no support. But this is the reality for thousands of people around the world.

Through it's connection with a children's hospital in Kijabe, Kenya, this program will have your team step up to compete, to perform and to help our global neighbours in a truly meaningful way. By providing much needed prosthetic devices to hospital staff, your team will help change lives in ways that are immeasurable.

You may never walk a mile in their shoes, but thanks to the efforts of your team, they will be able to!

THE DETAILS

- Your group will be divided into small competitive teams
- Teams will complete a variety of challenges that will earn them points and parts for the final prosthesis assembly
- Each challenge will be followed by discussions that will link experiences back to workplace reality
- Program concludes with a message from our partners in Kenya and award ceremony for the winning team who accumulated the most points

TEAM BUILDING PROGRAMS

Everyone participated. Everyone had a good time. Everyone respected you along with the rest of your team. They had fun. How do you beat that? Outstanding! Job well done!
