

HERE'S TO YOU!

Virtual Team Building

THE IDEA

It's never been more important to stay connected and show appreciation for your team than it is right now. "Here's to YOU!" is a great way to do both. Strong relationships have always been critical for every high-performing team and those relationships really thrive when your team can step out of their typical work roles and just spend some quality time together and have some fun. This can be a tall order when spontaneous pizza parties and formal recognition events are temporarily off the table.

Say thank you to your team for all their hard work by giving them a fun and engaging break from all the work they're doing.

THE DETAILS

- A series of engaging and competitive challenges using breakout rooms and other virtual features.
- Teams will collaborate, get creative and act fast to maximize points for the win.
- All of this happens in approximately 50-60 minutes – the perfect lunch or anytime break from the daily routine.
- A surprise celebrity guest will pop in to let your team know they are appreciated and valued, now more than ever.

THE RESULTS

- Your hard-working team will enjoy a well-deserved break, have some fun together and reconnect
- This engaging and interactive challenge will leave them (and you) feeling appreciated, valued, and re-energized to face the challenges that lie ahead

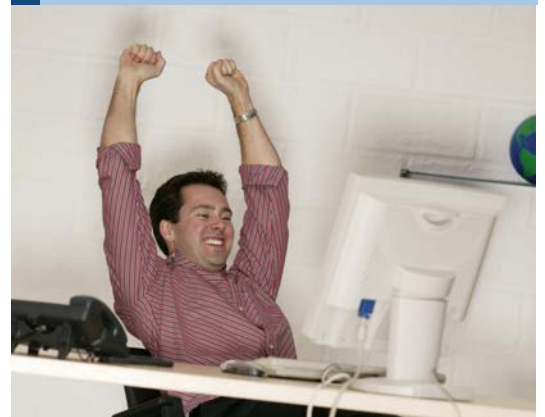

VIRTUAL TEAM BUILDING PROGRAMS

"The interactivity, team atmosphere, and friendly competition, combined with humour, creativity and showmanship made for an amazing time."
