

THE IDEA

We've all been there...back to back meetings where concentration and focus fades as the day goes on. Inevitably, the final product is the total loss of your team's engagement. In order to make the most of your limited and valuable face-to-face meeting time, your team needs to be in an environment which promotes engagement, focus, and a learning mindset.

Your team will learn the art of juggling by breaking down a complex task into small and manageable steps. Peer coaching in smaller groups will provide support and motivation as participants learn and have fun together. All of these concepts easily transfer to any number of new tasks your team faces every day.

THE DETAILS

- Give your team an reinvigorating break from your offsite meeting by engaging in some fun and interactive learning
- Participants will learn the skills needed to successfully master the art of juggling
- The principles involved in this process are simple and provide a reminder that we have all learned something that we never thought we could
- Each step will be explained and demonstrated before getting small groups in to practice and coach each other
- Individuals will set their own goals - regardless of how ambitious they are, everyone will leave with a sense of accomplishment

Summit did an exceptional job at our team meeting and the program offered was well aligned with our company mission, and very well executed. The Summit team was a pleasure to work with. I would definitely recommend them for a fun team building event.
