- In-Person Indoor Active Competitive
 Virtual Outdoor Less Active Non-competitive

THE IDEA

There is something mystical about Mount Everest – it captures people’s imagination even if most of us will never see it first-hand. Summit’s president Scott Kress saw it from bottom to top in a year that presented climbers with more obstacles than ever before. Breath-taking photos and videos will take your team from basecamp to the highest point on the planet. Along the way, people must work together to overcome a series of challenges – no one gets to the top alone. It takes a team.

This workshop is more than just story-telling. Learn how the lessons of Everest can apply to your team. Effective decision making, made with high levels of trust and support are the true factors that get teams to the top.

All teams have their Everest - what's yours?

THE DETAILS

- Participants will work in small expedition teams
- A brief introduction sets the stage for the ascent with real stories & photos
- Each team will determine their vision of success
- Teams must collaborate to reach a single solution to an expedition related dilemma
- Group answers will be compared to the expert answers and the results will determine your level of success
- The session wraps up with additional expedition stories and photos which will give your team an amazing perspective that can only be found at the summit of Mount Everest

THE RESULTS

- Develop effective problem solving and group-decision making skills
- Understand and value each person’s unique contribution to the team
- Increase team commitment through new consensus building approaches

TEAM BUILDING PROGRAMS

“I really enjoyed the program, it was very beneficial to spend time with my co-workers in this environment. The program was fun and I learned we can work together, enjoy it, and accomplish our goals!”
